Master's in Classics and Ancient Civilisations

Ancient Studies

uva.nl/ma-ancient-studies
Explore the riches of ancient society and culture as a whole, going beyond the limits of written sources and archaeological material. This programme offers a unique combination of historical, literary, and archaeological approaches from which you can choose. In addition, you can specialise in ancient philosophy or religion and the study of one of the classical languages. Neo-Assyrian and Neo-Babylonian may also be included in the programme. The core courses of the master introduce you to some of the most pertinent debates within the field and devote explicit attention to interdisciplinary research. Depending on your interests, you can specialise in Ancient History, Archaeology, Ancient Religion, Latin or Greek Language and Culture, as well as Mesopotamian Language and Culture from the first millennium BC.
Career prospects

Graduates from this degree programme can be employed in various positions requiring an in-depth knowledge of antiquity. The interdisciplinary nature of your degree will provide you with a non-compartmentalised attitude, making you an attractive employee and enabling you to find work in a broad range of sectors and jobs, for example as: a municipal official, museum employee, bookseller, archivist, cultural tour guide, teacher, librarian or management consultant.
