Addressing social exclusion of youth in and from alternative care settings

WHAT? SOS Children’s Villages the Netherlands and the University of Amsterdam are pleased to invite you for our presentation to share the results of our research in six countries in Asia, Africa, Europa and Central America: How are vulnerable youth (youth in and from alternative care and families at risk of losing care) affected by social exclusion in terms of their human wellbeing, employability and social acceptance?

WHEN? Tuesday 14 November 2017, 03.00 p.m. – 05.00 p.m.
WHERE? Museon, Stadhouderslaan 37, The Hague
WHY? To discuss how we may mitigate the negative impact of social exclusion of youth after losing parental care and ensure their social and economic inclusion.

No registration fee. Welcome from 2.30 p.m. Drinks from 05.00 p.m. – 06.00 p.m.

Agenda
- introduction: breaking the cycle of social exclusion of children and youth in alternative care: the context of the SDGs
- presentation: and discussion summary of the results of our research
- youth panel: sharing experiences of youth with child care practitioners and social researchers and discuss their recommendations
- discussion: how these findings can be reflected in actual alternative care settings

“I was scared, I did not know how I was going to face the people that I was going to relate with, I did not know how I was going to keep going to achieve my dreams.”
